

Community & labor support are Helping us win a good contract

We're doing a good job of sticking together at our mine. Over 40 volunteers have already come forward to serve on the Contract Action Team – our growing network that aims to keep everyone informed. If you don't have a CAT contact in your area yet, please let us know – and consider volunteering on the CAT team!

The company knows we're stronger, more united, and better organized than ever. That's why they tried to put out their own company "bulletin" last month, but it backfired because of all the talk about "hard times" and "cutbacks" - claims that don't square with what they're saying to local business leaders. In August, Rio Tinto's Vice President told the Chamber of Commerce and local politicians that "the financial position of the company is very strong." He said, "we're going to be here for a long time," explaining that our mine has 40 years of reserves left.

Rio Tinto's VP (2nd from right) is telling business & political leaders that "the financial position of the company is very strong..." They're telling us they're broke and want cutbacks. Which do you believe?

New Sticker!

Let's show the company we take our seniority seriously and won't go back to the days of favoritism and discrimination, when the boss could pick-and-choose or play favorites.

These colors don't run! Put 'em in your truck, car, or window at home. Send a message that we're fighting for good jobs and won't back down.

Let's stay strong and united to win a good contract at Boron.
